

CHRISTMAS ADVENTURE

you arrive at the designated location Sonic told to meet for the small christmas plan that you, Sonic and Shadow had been discussing about.

No one's here but you don't think much about it, suddenly Sonic appears and salutes you and being glad that we could make it, funny enough we are the one who made the plan anyway.

Sonic: -"Hi! I'm happy to see you here, first and foremost I must thank you for the idea. I'm always up to surprise my friends (either the good way or bad way), but I'm genuinely surprised that you got Shadow into this.

OP1: Player: -"It wasn't a hard job, I just promised him about some coffee recipe he could bring to the table."

OP2: Player: -"It wasn't a hard job, I just told him that he can send a letter to Santa if he stayed for the day."

Sonic: -"Ah well, that sure did the trick-.."

Shadow: -"What are you two blabbering about?"

Sonic: -"Speaking of the devil. Long time no see, buddy!"

Shadow: -"I'm not your buddy and I'm surprised you are early this time, being punctual is not something you're specialised at."

Sonic: -"...This is literally my home, how could I be late-? Anyways, let's get the house a full makeover and get decorating! Time's a waste."

Shadow: -"Finally something I can agree with. I must thank you for the plan, I'm not the person that has reunions over just a celebration but your cheap facade convinced me."

Player: -"Uhh thanks I guess?"

During that small exchange of conversation, Sonic leaves and comes back with a box that clearly contains Christmas decorations.

Sonic: -"Alrighty! I got everything we need to get the job done, good thing I got the hard part done which is getting the tree."

Shadow: -"You two do what you have to do, I'll head over to the kitchen. I have something important to do."

With no more to say Shadow leaves and you are there to help Sonic decorate the house.

[Basically here's where first minigame starts, the decoration one, there's no much dialogue to input here besides the try again and completion chat box]

Try again: "How about we take a look again?"

Completion/Win?: "Amazing work! You have a very good creative eye!"

And cut to the next act: "You should check on Shadow, he will certainly need your help."

Scene cuts and you (the player) enters the kitchen and Shadow's seems to have already been preparing something beforehand.

OP1: Player: -"I'm here to offer help."

OP2: Player: -"Do you need help?"

Shadow: -"Sure, I need a little help on preparing a salad. I got the recipe right here so you don't struggle."

[Cuts directly to the minigame, same thing with Sonic's, a try again and a completion dialogue]

Try again: "Just follow the recipe! Try again."

Completion: "Incredible skills, looking forward to your cooking talent"

And cut to the end of the game/final act: "We've got everything for dinner now, we can go help set up the table."

[Scene where everyone arrives and is enjoying the moment, will be displayed with only an image to not make the game longer and just after that, it cuts to the credits and main menu]
